

Bibliografía Especializada Trata de Personas

1. McGill, Craig. Human traffic: sex, slaves & immigration. London : Vision Paperbacks, 2003.
362.8
MCG

This book is an investigation that looks at the issue on a global level. With chapters on North America, Europe, Australasia and the Far East, as well as first-person accounts from the smugglers and the smuggled, this is an insight into a growing North American problem.

2. Global human smuggling: comparative perspectives. Baltimore: Johns Hopkins University Press, c2001.
364.1
GLO

This volume explores the global dimensions of human smuggling in several forms and regions, examining its deep social, economic, and cultural roots and its broad political consequences.

3. Bales, Kevin. Disposable people: new slavery in the global economy. Regents of the University of California. CA: University of California Press, 1999.
306.3
BAL

Bales investigated five case studies--prostitution in Thailand, water delivery in Mauritania, charcoal making in Brazil, brickmaking in Pakistan, and bonded labor in Indian agriculture--to trace the nature of modern slavery and compare its forms.

4. Commercial sexual exploitation of children. Youth involved in prostitution, pornography & sex trafficking. Barnitz, Laura. 2nd printing, 2000. Youth advocate Program International Washington, D.C.: YAPI, 1998.
364.74
COM

This booklet provides an overview of factors that put children at risk of entering the sex trade and identifies the practices of those who profit from and abuse these children. The booklet also enumerates efforts to stop this abuse, as outlined by the First World Congress Against the Commercial Exploitation of Children.

5. Illegal aliens: national net cost estimates vary widely. United States. General Accounting Office. Washington, D.C.: GAO, 1995.

R

323.631

UNI

This report assesses existing estimates of the national cost of illegal aliens to all levels of government, examines the items that account for much of the variation in these estimates and identifies areas in which the estimates could be improved.

6. Conover, Ted. Coyotes: a journey through the secret world of America's illegal aliens. New York: Vintage Departures, 1987.

331.6272073

CON

Conover takes dangerous personal risks, as he covers a group of Mexicans, and ranges across Idaho, Arizona, and Florida, describing how these people migrate within the United States.

7. Stewart, Gail. The other America: illegal immigrants / by Gail B. Stewart. Photographs by Natasha Frost. San Diego, CA : Lucent Books, c1987.

R

305.9

STE

The author examines the life of four illegal immigrants, through moving interviews, hoping that readers will understand that these people's circumstances are not all of one kind, and perhaps we, after all are not different from them.

8. Reimers, David M. Still the golden door. The Third world comes to America.

New York : Columbia University Press, 1985.

325.73

REI

This revised edition includes extensive discussion of undocumented immigrants, the 1990 immigration act, recent changes in refugee status, and the new wave of East European and Soviet immigrants.

9. Ehrlich, Paul B. The golden door: international migration, Mexico, and the United States / Paul R. Ehrlich, Loy Bilderback, Anne H. Ehrlich. New York : Ballantine Books, 1979.

325.272

EHR

In this study, the authors focus on the Mexican immigration problem in its historical and cultural context and examine the possible consequences of various policies aimed at dealing dealing with it.